

Once upon a time... there lived a giant who had quarrelled with a very greedy wizard over sharing a treasure. After the quarrel, the giant said menacingly to the wizard: “I could crush you under thumb if I wanted to! Now, get of my sight!” The wizard hurried away, but from a safe distance, hurled his terrible revenge. “Abacadabra! Here I cast this spell. May the son, your wife will shortly give you, never grow any taller than my own thumb!” After Tom Thumb was born, his parents were at their wits’ end. They could never find him, for they could barely see him. They had to speak
